Ragas4u Raga Lalit

Lalit is a raga in Hindustani classical music. It is commonly described as serene and devotional and is performed at dawn. The swara (notes of the Indian musical scale) of Lalit put emphasis on the minor second (Re) and minor sixth (Dha), and include natural and sharp fourth (Ma), but omit the commonly used perfect fifth (Pa).

Rag Description: This Raag is a sweet mellifluous combination of both Madhyams (Shuddha and Teevra), requiring critical attention to the Komal Dhaivat employed. This note is a shruti in between Shuddha Dhaivat and commonly played Komal Dhaivat of Raag Todi.It is for this reason that its correct position should be rigorously practiced after learning it from the Guru (Gurumukh).

Raga Lalita-Gouri is a union of the eponymous Ragas Lalit and Gouri, named after the manifestations of the Divine Mother or Shakti. In the first two sections, the constituent ragas are first investigated in just enough detail to illuminate the essentials. We will then attain to the denouement, Lalita-Gouri, in the third and final segment.
